

A wide-angle photograph of a busy beach festival. In the foreground, a large crowd of people is scattered across the sand. Several vintage cars are parked on the beach. In the middle ground, a large white Ferris wheel stands prominently on the left. Behind it and to the right are several multi-story buildings, including a large, ornate stone building with many windows. The sky is clear blue, and a formation of red jets is flying in the upper left, leaving long, colorful smoke trails in blue, white, and red.
